SAFER CARE FACILITIES FOR EVERYBODY

Some people sell machines they claim will kill every superbug that ever existed and then leave you to get on with it. We don't...

We have been providing a high quality decontamination service to NHS hospitals and care homes across the UK for many years.

The one thing that we have learnt in that time is that our reputation for getting the job done means that we are the people that hospitals call when an outbreak occurs or their existing supplier has let them down.

We can also genuinely use the phrase 'cost effective'. Just ask our customers and they will tell you we not only deliver a great service but do it at a very competitive price.

And the best thing is that you do not need to train your own staff or maintain your own equipment to be able to operate an infection free environment. No capital expenditure..No hassle..Just peace of mind.

HOW WE WORK

CONSULTATION PHASE

Before embarking on a decontamination programme we carry out a full consultation to identify your needs. We undertake a full site survey and agree how we will work with any ward plans.

We are then able to provide you with a written set of recommendations suggesting a work programme based on your operational requirements, e.g. rapid reaction to an outbreak, or planned regular visits.

We will also advise you on any preparational cleaning that needs to be carried out before we can carry out the decontamination.

THE DECONTAMINATION PROCESS

The decontamination process couldn't be simpler.

- ◆ We visit the site at the agreed time and check that the pre-decontamination work has been completed
- ◆ We position the HPV Robot(s), set them ready for operation and vacate the area, (ensuring that others have done the same)
- ◆ The HPV robots activate, dispersing the Hydrogen Peroxide based dry mist throughout the area, and continue until the set programme is completed (no more than 3 hours duration)
- ◆ The area is then available for use

Once the process has been completed, we provide you with a fully auditable record to certify that decontamination has taken place.
